Dear Sir or Madame,

It is a great pleasure to recommend Catherine Schenone as she continues her professional journey. She was a student that I had for PreCalculus her junior year and one who I've remained in contact with since she graduated from Bridgewater Raritan High School. I've known Catherine for over 4 years now and is a person whom I hold in high regard. Her attitude is always positive, mature and upbeat. Catherine consistently gave me everything she could possibly give while in class.

Catherine has a great personality and gets along with everyone. In class she could rally the troops to problem solve in cooperative group activities. She was a leader in the class and would often answer questions I posed the class. She wasn't fearful when she didn't understand and wasn't hesitant when she needed assistance. She was always well prepared for class. She consistently put forth the maximum effort to accomplish every task asked of her. She showed me on a daily basis that she wanted to be the best.

After graduation from BRHS we've kept in contact since her house is literally around the corner and down the street from my house. We've talked about her time at Michigan State and the challenges she has faced with some of the coursework. She assured me that she continued to do her best and to push herself to learn the subject material. I'm glad to see that she continues to see learning as a truly valued thing. She mentioned that outside of her coursework she is a member of the "La Tavola Italiana" Italian club and "The Morning Watch" political club. I'm glad to see that she is continuing to pursue these interests after high school.

Catherine has also shared experiences with her internship at CorrChoice. She told me that she has enjoyed the hands on experiences of interacting with coworkers in the work place. Working both in both the office and the plant in the manufacturing of corrugated products has given her a full "day in the life" picture that often gets lost sitting in the classroom.

Writing this recommendation for Catherine is a truly a privilege. She is a dedicated and driven individual who in my opinion would excel in the professional environment. She will set goals for herself and won't stop until she achieves those them. Her dedication and hard work made her a stand out in my class. She will undoubtedly continue to work with the same intensity as a working professional that she did at Bridgewater Raritan and at your University.
